Food declaration

I believe that connection to nature and the local community is a key for the integrity in any gastronomy business.

In Baghaven you can expect ethically sourced seasonal ingredients turned into delicious food with a Polish twist. Just like my grandma thought me. The quality of our produce means a lot to us – that why I'm in personal and honest contact with our suppliers and why we refine our skills constantly.

I can assure you; we use our ingredients to a maximum and keep our waste to a minimum. We see even the tiniest wasteproduct as something usefull.

All plants growing in the kitchen garden grew from seeds in my home window. 419 plants this year! Opening our minds for the seasons and how nature is changing - gives a better understanding of agriculture and the connection to Earth. The nature can't be controlle, and we should all remember that.
